Sanchez Art Center is pleased to announce a very special one-day Ceramic Mural Workshop, taught by master ceramic sculptor John Toki.

Toki will teach in detail how to make a ceramic mural from beginning to end. Each student will create a wall mural approximately 24" x 32". The one-day workshop will include demonstrations on sculpting in relief, texturing, blending, and staining various types of stoneware and porcelain clays; decorating clay with underglazes, engobes, and glaze; and finishing a surface using dry-glazing techniques. Finish work related to cutting, drying, and firing tiles will also be addressed, as well as the correct types of adhesives to use for mounting tiles in both indoor and outdoor environments.

Who should attend?

- Ceramicists
- Sculptors
- Any Individual wishing to learn the Toki process

Fee: $175.00 - materials not included.
Maximum enrollment: 20

John Toki is a master sculptor, teacher, and author who has exhibited his ceramic art all over the world, including the Netherlands and Japan. He derives inspiration from forms found in nature, creating earthen sculptures which mirror the aesthetics of landscapes. Toki combines both Western and Eastern ceramic traditions, and incorporates his own dry glazing processes. He is also the owner of Leslie Ceramic Supply Company in Berkeley, California.

Echoes of the Earth, an exhibition of Toki's landscape sculptures, can be viewed in the Sanchez Art Center Main Gallery from Friday, January 11 through Saturday, February 23, 2008.

Gallery Hours: Friday, Saturday, Sunday 1 – 5 pm
Office Hours: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 1 – 5 pm
